

MISS PHOEBE
again welcomes you to the

ERIE LACKAWANNA

The Friendly Service Route

*A symbol of gracious travel
For those who are on the go,
Whether powered by steam or diesel
Is the legend of Phoebe Snow.*

the story of PHOEBE SNOW

Back at the turn of the century, an auburn-haired maiden garbed in immaculate white, made her bow on the American railroad scene.

Her name was Phoebe Snow. Her portrait became widely-known as the symbol of clean and gracious travel on The Lackawanna. Her fame was glorified in numerous poetic verses telling how her dress and hat remained sparkling white while riding on the "Road of Anthracite" because The Lackawanna Railroad took the "sin" out of cinders by burning smokeless hard coal instead of soft coal in its locomotives.

Unfortunately, Phoebe became a casualty of the first World War when, by government edict, all railroads had to burn soft coal. She reappeared later—donned in a military uniform during World War II—and even had a sparkling new diesel-powered streamliner named for her!

You might say you're riding with Miss Phoebe right now.

Miss Phoebe's hat may be slightly dated but the gracious travel she symbolizes is never out of date. It's just that kind of service Erie Lackawanna people all aspire to provide when you're riding "her" train . . . "The Phoebe Snow."

MISS PHOESE says

Enjoy your trip on the Erie Lackawanna to the fullest!

For a change of pace during your trip, you are invited to visit the Observation-Lounge Car* at the end of the train. It is yours to use at no extra charge. You can enjoy the scenic beauty along the Erie Lackawanna route . . . and perhaps a refreshing beverage at the same time. Cigarettes, cigars and playing cards are also available here . . . all at moderate prices.

At mealtime the spotless Dining Car is available and ready to serve you. You will find a choice from the varied menu that is certain to whet your appetite . . . graciously served as we whisk across the picturesque countryside.

At your destination, the Train Porter will be at your service should you desire assistance with your luggage.

So nice having you aboard! We want to do everything possible to make your trip comfortable and pleasant when you ride the Erie Lackawanna! If we've pleased you, tell your friends; if not, tell us.

*Available during daylight hours between Hoboken and Meadville.
